

CONTENTS

	PAGE
PREFACE BY W. F. CODY	vii

INTRODUCTION

The First Europeans who traversed the Great Highway — Alvar Nunez Cabeça de Vaca — Hernando de Soto, and Francisco Vasquez de Coronado — Spanish Expedition from Santa Fé eastwardly — Escape of the Sole Survivors	1
---	---

CHAPTER I

Quaint Descriptions of Old Santa Fé — The Famous Adobe Palace — Santa Fé the Oldest Town in the United States — First Settlement — Oñate's Conquest — Revolt of the Pueblo Indians — Under Pueblo Rule — Cruelties of the Viceroy — The Santa Fé of To-day — Arrival of a Caravan — The Railroad reaches the Town — Amusements — A Fandango	12
---	----

CHAPTER II

The Beginning of the Santa Fé Trade — La Lando and Pursley, the First Americans to cross the Plains — Pursley's Patriotism — Captain Ezekiel Williams — A Hungry Bear — A Midnight Alarm	27
--	----

CHAPTER III

Captain Becknell's Expedition — Sufferings from Thirst — Augusto Chouteau — Imprisonment of McKnight and Chambers — The Caches — Stampeding Mules — First Military Escort across the Plains — Captain Zebulon Pike — Sublette and Smith — Murder of McNess — Indians not the Aggressors	38
---	----

CHAPTER IV

The Atajo or Pack-train of Mules — Mexican Nomenclature of Paraphernalia — Manner of Packing — The "Bell-mare" — Toughness of Mules among Precipices — The Caravan of Wagons — Largest Wagon-train ever on the Plains — Stampedes — Duties of Packers en route — Order of Travelling with Pack-train — Chris. Gilson, the Famous Packer 56

CHAPTER V

Narrative of Bryant's Party of Santa Fé Traders — The First Wagon Expedition across the Plains — A Thrilling Story of Hardship and Physical Suffering — Terrible Fight with the Comanches — Abandonment of the Wagons — On Foot over the Trail — Burial of their Specie on an Island in the Arkansas — Narrative of William Y. Hitt, one of the Party — His Encounter with a Comanche — The First Escort of United States Troops to the Annual Caravan of Santa Fé Traders, in 1820 — Major Bennett Riley's Official Report to the War Department — Journal of Captain Cooke 67

CHAPTER VI

The Expedition of Texans to the Old Santa Fé Trail for the Purpose of robbing Mexican Traders — Innocent Citizens of the United States suspected, arrested, and carried to the Capital of New Mexico — Colonel Snively's Force — Warfield's Sacking of the Village of Mora — Attack upon a Mexican Caravan — Kit Carson in the Fight — A Crime of over Sixty Years Ago — A Romance of the Tragedy 93

CHAPTER VII

Mexico declares War against the United States — Congress authorizes the President to call for Fifty Thousand Volunteers — Organization of the Army of the West — Phenomenon seen by Santa Fé Traders in the Sky — First Death on the March of the Army across the Plains — Men in a Starving Condition — Another Death — Burial near Pawnee Rock — Trouble at Pawnee Fork — Major Howard's Report 102

CHAPTER VIII

The Valley of Taos — First White Settler — Rebellion of the Mexicans — A Woman discovers and informs Colonel Price of the Conspiracy — Assassination of Governor Bent — Horrible Butcheries by the Pueblos and Mexicans — Turley's Ranch — Murder of Harwood and Markhead — Anecdote of Sir William Drummond Stewart — Fight at the Mills — Battle of the Pueblo of Taos — Trial of the Insurrectionists — Baptiste, the Juror — Execution of the Rebels 113

CHAPTER IX

Independence — Opening of Navigation on the Mississippi — Effect of Water Transportation upon the Trade — Establishment of Trading-forts — Market for Cattle and Mules — Wages paid Teamsters on the Trail — An Enterprising Coloured Man — Increase of the Trade at the Close of the Mexican War — Heavy Emigration to California — First Overland Mail — How the Guards were armed — Passenger Coaches to Santa Fé — Stage-coaching Days 141

CHAPTER X

The Tragedy in the Cañon of the Canadian — Dragoons follow the Trail of the Savages — Kit Carson, Dick Wooton, and Tom Tobin the Scouts of the Expedition — More than a Hundred of the Savages killed — Murder of Mrs. White — White Wolf — Lieutenant Bell's Singular Duel with the Noted Savage — Old Wolf — Satank — Murder of Peacock — Satanta made Chief — Kicking Bird — His Tragie Death — Charles Bent, the Half-breed Renegade — His Terrible Acts — His Death 160

CHAPTER XI

Neglect of New Mexico by the United States Government — Intended Conquest of the Province — Conspiracy of Southern Leaders — Surrender by General Twiggs to the Confederate Government of the Military Posts and Munitions of War under his Command — Only One Soldier out of Two Thousand deserts to the Enemy — Organization of Volunteers for the Defence of Colorado and New Mexico — Battle of La Glorieta — Rout of the Rebels 180

CHAPTER XII

	PAGE
The Ancient Range of the Buffalo—Number slaughtered in Thirteen Years for their Robes alone—Buffalo Bones—Trains stopped by Vast Herds—Custom of Old Hunters when caught in a Blizzard—Anecdotes of Buffalo Hunting—Kit Carson's Dilemma—Experience of Two of Fremont's Hunters—Wounded Buffalo Bull—O'Neil's Laughable Experience—Organization of a Herd of Buffalo—Stampedes—Thrilling Escapes	202

CHAPTER XIII

Big Timbers—Winter Camp of the Cheyennes, Kiowas, and Arapahoes—Savage Amusements—A Cheyenne Lodge—Indian Etiquette—Treatment of Children—The Pipe of the North American Savage—Dog Feast—Marriage Ceremony	233
---	-----

CHAPTER XIV

The Old Pueblo Fort—A Celebrated Rendezvous—Its Inhabitants—"Fontaine qui Bouille"—The Legend of its Origin—The Trappers of the Old Santa Fé Trail and the Rocky Mountains—Beaver Trapping—Habits of the Beaver—Improvvidence of the Old Trappers—Trading with "Poor Lo"—The Strange Experience of a Veteran Trapper on the Santa Fé Trail—Romantic Marriage of Baptiste Brown	251
--	-----

CHAPTER XV

Uncle John Smith—A Famous Trapper, Guide, and Interpreter—His Marriage with a Cheyenne Squaw—An Autocrat among the People of the Plains and Mountains—The Mexicans held him in Great Dread—His Wonderful Resemblance to President Andrew Johnson—Interpreter and Guide on General Sheridan's Winter Expedition against the Allied Plains Tribes—His Stories around the Camp-fire	278
--	-----

CHAPTER XVI

Famous Men of the Old Santa Fé Trail—Kit Carson—Jim Bridger—James P. Beckwourth—Uncle Dick Wooton—Jim Baker—Lucien B. Maxwell—Old Bill Williams—Tom Tobin—James Hobbs	314
---	-----

CHAPTER XVII

	PAGE
Uncle Dick Wooton—Lucien B. Maxwell—Old Bill Williams—Tom Tobin—James Hobbs—William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill)	341

CHAPTER XVIII

Maxwell's Ranch on the Old Santa Fé Trail—A Picturesque Region—Maxwell a Trapper and Hunter with the American Fur Company—Lifelong Comrade of Kit Carson—Sources of Maxwell's Wealth—Fond of Horse-racing—A Disastrous Fourth-of-July Celebration—Anecdotes of Kit Carson—Discovery of Gold on the Ranch—The Big Ditch—Issuing Beef to the Ute Indians—Camping out with Maxwell and Carson—A Story of the Old Santa Fé Trail	373
--	-----

CHAPTER XIX

The Bents' Several Forts—Famous Trading-posts—Rendezvous of the Rocky Mountain Trappers—Castle William and Incidents connected with the Noted Place—Bartering with the Indians—Annual Feast of Arapahoes and Cheyennes—Old Wolf's First Visit to Bent's Fort—The Surprise of the Savages—Stories told by Celebrated Frontiersmen around the Camp-fire	380
---	-----

CHAPTER XX

Pawnee Rock—A Debatable Region of the Indian Tribes—The most Dangerous Point on the Central Plains in the Days of the Early Santa Fé Trade—Received its Name in a Baptism of Blood—Battle-ground of the Pawnees and Cheyennes—Old Graves on the Summit of the Rock—Kit Carson's First Fight at the Rock with the Pawnees—Kills his Mule by Mistake—Colonel St. Vrain's Brilliant Charge—Defeat of the Savages—The Trappers' Terrible Battle with the Pawnees—The Massacre at Cow Creek	403
--	-----

CHAPTER XXI

Wagon Mound—John L. Hatcher's Thrilling Adventure with Old Wolf, the War-chief of the Comanches—Incidents on the Trail—A Boy Bugler's Happy Escape from the Savages at Fort Union
---	--

	PAGE
— A Drunken Stage-driver— How an Officer of the Quartermaster's Department at Washington succeeded in starting the Military Freight Caravans a Month Earlier than the Usual Time— How John Chisholm fooled the Stage-robbers— The Story of Half a Plug of Tobacco	422

CHAPTER XXII

Solitary Graves along the Line of the Old Santa Fé Trail— The Walnut Crossing— Fort Zarah— The Graves on Hon. D. Heizer's Ranch on the Walnut— Troops stationed at the Crossing of the Walnut— A Terrible Five Miles— The Cavalry Recruit's Last Ride	432
---	-----

CHAPTER XXIII

General Hancock's Expedition against the Plains Indians— Terrible Snow-storm at Fort Larned— Meeting with the Chiefs of the Dog-Soldiers— Bull Bear's Diplomacy— Meeting of the United States Troops and the Savages in Line of Battle— Custer's Night Experience— The Surgeon and Dog Stew— Destruction of the Village by Fire— General Sully's Fight with the Kiowas, Comanches, and Arapahoes— Finding the Skeletons of the Unfortunate Men— The Savages' Report of the Affair	450
---	-----

CHAPTER XXIV

Scenery on the Line of the Old Santa Fé Trail— The Great Plains— The Arkansas Valley— Over the Rocky Mountains into New Mexico— The Raton Range— The Spanish Peaks— Simpson's Rest— Fisher's Peak— Raton Peak— Snowy Range— Pike's Peak— Raton Creek— The Invasion of the Railroad— The Old Santa Fé Trail a Thing of the Past	480
--	-----

INDEX	491
-----------------	-----

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS

COLONEL HENRY INMAN	Frontispiece
FULL-PAGE PLATES BY FREDERICK REMINGTON.
	FACING PAGE
CORONADO'S MARCH	5
A PACK TRAIN TO SANTA FÉ, 1820	57
TROOPS GOING TO MEXICO, 1847	109
A BUFFALO WITH THE PACK	209
HUNTING ON A BEAVER STREAM, 1840	263
GOVERNMENT SCOUTS— MOONLIGHT	307
A CITADEL OF THE PLAINS	413
A THAPPER AND HIS PONY	485
MAP OF THE OLD SANTA FÉ TRAIL	29

INITIALS AND TAIL PIECES BY THOMSON WILLING.